

Western New England University is a small, private institution located in the Northeast region of the United States. The University offers undergraduate and graduate programs across four colleges. These colleges include Engineering, Business, Arts & Sciences, Pharmacy and Health Sciences, as well as a School of Law.

With small class sizes, our students are guaranteed an individualized approach to their education. This includes one-on-one attention from faculty members who will not only teach, but open networking doors for students once they have graduated. We are proud that 96% of our graduates have a job within one year of graduation, and that, according to Zippia, Western New England is the best-value education in Massachusetts.
