

Saint Martin's UNIVERSITY

St. Martin's University is an independent four-year, coeducational university located in Lacey, Washington. Since 1895, we have been driven by our Catholic, Benedictine value with a student-centered environment that promotes the development of the whole person- intellectually, personally, and spiritually. We offer ESL, 29 bachelor's degree majors and 11 master's degree programs. Our undergraduate civil and mechanical engineering programs are ABET accredited and our School of Business is ACBSP accredited.

Other Helpful Information:

Saint Martin's University is a residential campus located less than one hour by car to Seattle, Washington and SEATAC international airport. The Office of International Programs and Development provide extensive pastoral care to international students, including airport pick up upon arrival, orientation, advising, community engagement and more. We now accept Duolingo for English proficiency. Saint Martin's University is test-optional, but international students typically need to provide a standardized test score to meet English proficiency. We offer a full English as a Second Language (ESL) program. Students with little to no English skills can start at the very beginning and progress to the university level. Students who do not meet the full admission English proficiency requirement can qualify to take "concurrent enrollment" classes, which means they can study ESL alongside university-level classes until they reach full admission proficiency.
